Raise Chickens?

If you do it's a safe guess you're interested in anything that tends to lessen your work and increase your profits. Perhaps you've tried a brooder, or an incubator, or both, and are dissatisfied—that's because it wasn't the "Favorite."

There are plenty of farmers in the neighborhood of Jasper who are using the Favorite, and we have yet to hear of one who is not pleased with it. Here are two instances of what the Favorite has done in this vicinity.

P. B. Cline, with a FAVORITE Incubator, got 146 chickens out of a setting of 150 eggs.

Jas. Bradford out of three settings of 150 eggs each got 139, 141 and 143 chickens.

These facts speak louder for the Favorite than any arguments we could use. When the Favorite sells at the prices given here it's the worst kind of false economy to buy a cheaper machine.

THE KANSAS CITY MARKET

Reported for the News by a Special Correspondent.

Kansas City Stock Yards, March 22, 1909. By the middle of last week steer prices had declined 20 to 35 cents, but scant marketing after Wednesday brought a recovery of 10 to 20 cents before the end of the week. The best steers were the object of greatest attack, and suffered most, medium priced steers meeting a fairly reliable demand all through the week. Cows and heifers lost only half as much as steers, and closed this week with small net decline. The run today is 8000 head, and the up turn in prices which began last week has continued today, steers 10 to 15 higher, or 15 to 25 higher than middle of last week, cows and stock grades also stronger today. The break last week caused a good many feeders to hold off awhile, but on the other hand, muddy condition of feed lots is forcing some shipping that might otherwise be obedient to suggestions of commission men to wait for a recovery of prices. Top steers today brought $6.65, as compared with $6.70 for tops last week, and bulk of steers bring $5.75 to $6.40, cows $3.50 to $5.00, heifers $4.50 to $5.50, bulls $3.25 to $4.80, calves $3.75 to $7.50, stockers $4.00 to $5.25, feeders $4.75 to $5.50, a fair number of sales outside these figures in each class. Wholesale price of most cuts of beef were reduced last week, but the increased consumption resulting therefrom has not been felt much yet.

Hog receipts here last week amounted to 79,000 head, largest total for any week in more than a month. Prices advanced the first part of the week, but there was a reaction that wiped out all the gain by the close Saturday, and average cost of hogs for the week was same as during the previous week, $1.55 per cwt. The market is 10 higher today, run 10,000 head, heavy hogs in greatest demand, a $6.75 to $6.87 1/2, medium weights $6.20 to $6.70, pigs $5.00 to $5.75. Associated press reports of interviews with packers last week indicate a belief in stronger prices for hogs.

Sheep and lambs are coming pretty freely, but the market is holding up good, lambs fully steady last week, sheep and yearlings 10 to 20 higher. The run is 13,000 head today, market 10 higher on anything showing decent quality, lambs today at $7.45 to $7.70, mainly, yearlings worth $3.25 to $7.00, weathers $5.50 to $8.00, ewes today at $5.25 to $5.80. Feeding wethers are worth around $1.25, breeding ewes up to $5.25, feeding lambs $3.75 to $7.00.

Helped Piano Fund.

The Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. gave an enjoyable entertainment at the church last evening that drew a good crowd despite the sudden cold snap, and the new piano fund is quite comfortably augmented as a result thereof. The music, recitations, drills, etc., that composed the program were all good, some exceptionally so. The "comb chorus" was perhaps the chief hit.

The wheat is coming in for its resurrection day as did the fruit crop, the difference being that whereas very few people had any hope of a fruit crop there is some confidence now that unless the unexpected happens the wheat will do very well.
